Porto Rico Fish Market.

San Juan, Porto Rico, June 23.—Since our last of the 16th inst., arrivals of fishstuffs at the various ports were as follows:

At San Juan—Ss. Carolina, 6 tcs. and 5 bxs. cod, 65 tcs. pollock; s.s. Bayamon, 40 tcs. cod, 20 tcs. pollock, 15 tcs. cusk, 25 tcs. fish, 90 bxs. bloaters.

At Ponce—Ss. Bayamon, 84 tcs. fish, 20 tcs. pollock, 88 bxs. bloaters; British sch. Mayola, from Lunenburg, N. S., 528 tcs. and 10 bxs. cod, 125 bbls. herring.

At Mayaguez—Ss. Carolina, 5 tcs. cod, 10 tcs. pollock; s.s. Bayamon, 20 tcs. cod, 10 tcs. fish.

Codfish—The supply is light except at Ponce, where another Lunenburg cargo has just arrived, notwithstanding that part of a previous cargo remains unsold. Prices of Nova Scotia cod remain weak at about $28, while the Gloucester article is reported sold at Ponce at $26 for the small and $27 for medium, per drum of 448 pounds and on usual basis, net ex wharf. In San Juan we have actually done better by resorting to the out-of-town trade. Inferior stocks are almost unsalable and the demand in general is unsatisfactory.

Pollock and Haddock—Stocks are only moderate and the inquiry remains at $24 per drum.—S. Ramirez & Co.

Frank H. McCarthy, New England organizer of the A. F. L., announced Saturday that a temporary organization of the Fishermen's Union of Boston had been effected with 300 members. Quarters have been established at the corner of Commercial and Lewis streets in the Atlantic Coast Seamen's Union, Boston. W. H. Brown has been elected business agent.

Provincetown Fishing News.

Small size bluebacks were taken a week ago Sunday by many of the seiners but only a few were taken in by the cold storage companies as the fish were too small.

Monday was a big day for the weir fishermen as large quantities of large and medium mackerel were taken. The greatest catch was made in traps along the Truro shore, although good catches were made at the western end of the harbor. The storage concerns handled many fish and many were shipped by freight.

Butterfish were also taken in some of the traps in large lots and went into the freezers.

Small lots of squid have been taken in the traps and it is hoped the big annual catch will soon be secured.

Steamer Mildred Agnes, Capt. Will O'Neill, seized 25 barrels mackerel last week Monday.

Sch. J. W. Caswell, Capt. Quinn, and sloop Elmer S., Capt. Silva, are to engage in plaice fishing off Nantucket.

WEEK END WITH TRIO OF FARES

Boston had but little to offer in the way of fish receipts this morning, two swordfishermen and one with groundfish being all that was reported. Sch. Genesta had 14,500 pounds groundfish, while the Sylvester had four swordfish and the Motor 62. Yesterday afternoon, sch. Virginia from fresh drifting had 29,000 pounds fresh fish.

Portland Fishing News.

Fish receipts continue very light, the boat fishermen not having been able to make a catch for several days on account of bad weather, they also complaining bitterly of the activity of the dogfish, which are reported as being seen in big schools off the lightship. The local fishing steamers which have been operating for a week at the eastward returned Saturday, not having seen a fish for several days, the sailing portion of the fleet having scattered in all directions.

Failure at Cape North.

Says a Yarmouth despatch to the Halifax Herald

The fishing at Cape North has proven a failure this season. The Yarmouth sch. Francis A., which left for those waters almost three months ago, has just arrived in port with a total fare of 30,000 pounds of mixed salt fish and 4000 pounds of halibut. The captain says the trip has proven a complete failure, but consoles himself with the knowledge that his fare was as good as taken by any vessel there.

FOUND PAIR IN THE FORE HOLD

Capt. Jerome McDonald Hauled Slide and Called Police—Strangers Arrested and Held For Grand Jury—Stores Piled Up to Take Off.

John Murphy, 24, claiming residence in New York City, and Frank Sheehan, 37, of Philadelphia, were held for the grand jury before Judge York in the district court this morning, for breaking and entering sch. Preceptor at Burnham's railways, Saturday night.

The men were found in the fore hold by Capt. Jerome McDonald, who went down to the ways Saturday evening, to see how the freshly painted deck was drying. To his surprise, the forecandle was open and on investigating, he discovered two strangers in a salt pen huddled in a crouching position. In the forecandle, several packages from the cook's stores were piled together, as though ready to be taken away, which left no doubt in Capt. McDonald's mind that the parties meant to commit larceny. Hastening to the deck again, the captain closed the slide and placed a boat hook through the hasp, thus holding the intruders prisoners below, while he started out to look for an officer.

Police Henry F. Brown was found short distance away and placed the men under arrest. Later Sergeant Alphen arrived and the pair were held to the police station.

In court this morning, Murphy and Sheehan claimed they had been drinking and went aboard to sleep. They denied that they broke the lock, though there was evidence to show that the forecandle had been secured when the vessel was left by the passengers, Saturday evening.

Both defendants were bound over to the September session of the grand jury in the sum of $400. Inspector Sullivan will take the finger prints of the pair before they are taken to Salem this afternoon and communicate with the criminal bureau of the Boston police department to see if the men have records there.

CONFER TO SAVE THE LOBSTERS

All lobster-producing states and the federal government will be represented at a national lobster conference to convene at the marine fishery station at Woods Hole, today. Means for increasing the efficiency of lobster culture and securing co-operation between the states will occupy the attention of the delegates.

Dr. Hugh Smith, United States commissioner of fisheries will preside over the meetings. The conference is held by the department of commerce, which has no control over the lobster industry, but carries on the government hatcheries in Maine and Massachusetts. The failure of a large proportion of the government hatched lobsters to reach maturity before they are potted has aroused the concern of the federal officers.

LIFE SAVERS FLOAT COASTER

Old Sander Reporter Bid Up on Essex Bar Yesterday Forenoon.

Sch. Reporter, a sand freighter, plying between Ipswich and other ports along the coast, became stranded on Essex bar yesterday morning. Captain Nelson A. King of the Dolliver's Neck Coast guard station, Mr. Aubin, keeper of the Rockport station and Albert Leat of the Plum Island station, went to the scene in Capt. King's boat yesterday afternoon and last evening succeeded in floating the craft at high water. It was necessary to take off considerable of the cargo and then the vessel came off the bar quite easily and apparently uninjured.

Salt Fish Demand Fairly Good.

Says the Fishing Gazette:

Demand fairly good for this time of year, particularly for dry cod, was the report at authoritative quarters late this week. A little better feeling on mackerel is shown. Definite information is exceedingly scarce. As a principal in the trade put it: "There is a lot of rumor stuff floating around which is unconfirmed and untrustworthy of belief."

One of the most first-rate men handling salt fish declared that the demand was fair, with prices quite low. He can't buy to make profit, he said. He took every order in the market last week. Now he is out and can't buy fish.

The Norway Catch.

The catch of Norwegian mackerel to June 19 taking in the coast fishery, was 3,016,065 fish, against 4,269,600 in 1914, and 5,928,900 in 1913.

Of the catch to date, 9070 fish were split and salted, against 946,300 in 1914, and 284,610 in 1913.

FULTON MARKET RECEIPTS LIGHT

The supply of fish in the market was remarkably light last week, the local boats bringing in about half as much as they sometimes do, while the craft in the East, from which this market usually receives its supply of groundfish, made hauls which were not heavy enough to supply their own needs, alone other markets.

The mackerel supply was also light, few bloaters or mediums being received. There were good supplies of tinkers from Newport, but they do not appear to be in any great demand.

All groundfish was high in price last week. Steak cod sold at 6 to 12 cents market, 2 to 4 cents, hake, 5 to 6 cents, haddock, 6 to 7 cents, and pollock, 7 to 8 cents.

Halibut. Western white fish sold 11 to 12 1-2 cents a lb. What Eastern white halibut there was in the market was quoted at 15 cents.
